Massive road-building project by Army For the next two days, we feature a road-building project spearheaded by the Army in the Trinco-malea area. The road is to run from Tricomalee to Muttur, and beyond, and has eight bridges along the way. The pitches here show before—and-other images of the first of these bridges. Note that prior to the Army starting construction, all that existed was the shell of a previous bridge.

