The Sri Lanka's flagship ICT Expo the Infotel 2010 will conclude today at the BMICH. The exhibition commenced last week attracting a large number of visitors. The event was organized by the Federation of Information Technology Industry of Sri Lanka (FITIS). The exhibition now has expanded to include software developers and IT trainers and has even gone beyond boundaries to feature areas such as office automation and the telecommunication sector which too has become part and parcel of the ICT sector. Here are some scenes at the exhibition captured by our photographer Sumanachandra Ariyawansa
