High street SENSUALITY

Avirate, Sri Lanka's pioneer high-street fashion label launched its flagship store at 30, Maitland Crescent, Colombo 7. Deriving from the Sanskrit word Avirati which denotes sensuality, the new collection is designed by Timex, one of the most popular apparel manufacturers of the country. The garments comprise casual wear, evening wear, lingerie, shoes and accessories.

Daily News photographer Ruman de Silva snapped these models as they displayed on-trend fashions ideal for the upcoming season at the launch of the Avirate store.

Avirate was also the sponsor for the 2010 IIFA Fashion extravaganza.

Glamming it up for Christmas

Shamila Sathar of Sona Mandir unveiled her latest Christmas collection at a fashion show held at Cinnamon Lakeside. Models displayed a variety of dazzling saris, shalwars and evening wear at the glittery event. The fashion show was choreographed by Geraldene. Our photographer Kavindra Perera captured these stunning designs on the catwalk.

Enthusiastic ESHANI

Meet Eshani Diana Jayapala. The spirited young lady started modeling from her teens and had taken part in many television commercials and fashion shows. She had also made it to the top five finalists at the Sri Lankan Best Female Model for the International Best Male and Female Model 2010 competition which was held in Spain. She aspires to venture towards fashion designing and is now engaged in studies to pursue her dream.
