

German Slow Food, a resounding success

Mount Lavinia Hotel gave an intimate evening with corporate, business partners exploring the harmonious connection between German food and the healing sounds of the Indian Ocean when they hosted the first Slow Food Night for 2012 at the Tropical Hut last week. Guests were able to experience how the ambience and great food, produces a tremendous evening. Deliciously prepared food combinations by Chef Stephan encompassed nutritional cultural food, with contemporary types, which surely awakened curious taste buds and it definitely surfaced multi-sensorial cuisine.

Chef Stefan with guests

Chef Stefan talking to guests

Blanka Dewapura entertaining the guests

Guests listening about slow food

Anura talking to the Kabays

Guests getting to know one another and having a good time

GM Anura Dewapura giving guests an insight to German slow food

A guest with Michael, Chef Stephan and Chef Indika (further right)